Litter Overall:

The Amaretto litter overall is very consistent with very few differences. They are all confident and self-assured. They are appropriately social with one another and other dogs. They show no stress when put into new situations, around new people, or into situations that could be considered stressful. They react appropriately with new sights and sounds being curious and investigative. They all possess very good motivation for toys, food, and interaction. They have good memory, problem-solving abilities, and focus that should aid in training. These puppies are appropriately social with people being very gentle having good bite inhibition and rarely vocal. They are all comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint. They have no red flags, show no possessiveness, and have a mid-level energy. These puppies have no extremes of temperament and would do well in most any home that will be interactive with them. Most would make good service or therapy candidates.

Individual Notes:

White is the smallest in the litter. She is curious and playful. She is confident and self-assured. She is interactive and affectionate. She is content to explore and play on her own. She is motivated by toys, food, and interaction. She is gentle and calm with handling restraint.

Health notes:

White has base nero level one and should outgrow.
